

Consulting Magazine Recognizes The Wilshire Group's Jenn Krebs with the 2023 Women Leaders in Consulting Award

Los Angeles– (November 3, 2023) – The Wilshire Group - a revenue cycle advisory firm– is pleased to announce that Jenn Krebs was recently named one of Consulting magazine's Women Leaders in Consulting for 2023. Krebs, Director of Client Success, was recognized in the Excellence in Client Services category. This award acknowledges the industry's top consultants who distinguish themselves based on their innovative techniques, exceptional client service, and positive impact on their peers, firms, and the industry at large. Krebs was honored with this recognition for her unwavering commitment to delivering unparalleled client service. According to Consulting magazine, Women Leaders in Consulting epitomize the character and leadership that make a measurable difference, not only for the industry, but also for up-and-coming women leaders.

Consulting Magazine hosted the awards gala in New York City honoring the 2023 “Women Leaders in Consulting” on November 2, 2023. Now in its 18th year, Consulting Magazine recognizes that the influence of women's leadership on our profession is immeasurable and deserves recognition. This is why the awards were established to identify and acknowledge the contributions made by these exceptional individuals.

According to Patti Consolver, Director, Growth and Business Development at The Wilshire Group, Jenn's thought leadership and unwavering dedication to client success have resulted in a lasting impact on clients, their organizations, and the healthcare industry. Her recognition as a top consultant is a testament to her commitment to being a trusted advisor to clients and her contributions that inspire The Wilshire Group. Congratulations to Jenn on this exceptional achievement, and we anticipate her continued success.

The Wilshire Group, a healthcare consulting firm, with extensive Epic experience and a proven track record in implementing Healthcare Information Technology, in addition to facilitating business and financial transformations. Their primary focus lies in enhancing Revenue Integrity and Revenue Cycle Management, where their mission is to streamline intricate workflows and processes with the aid of information technology, consequently improving operational productivity. Their goal is to help healthcare organizations maximize core business assets, achieve optimal systems integration, and attain a high-functioning revenue cycle dynamic, aligned with their envisioned objectives.

Learn more at Consulting Magazine.